I do not think this is right that London hydro is raising rates while still in the midst of a pandemic and many people are struggling. Rents and housing costs have increased dramatically over the pandemic and this is just another nail in the coffin for many Londoner's. If you review the financial highlights of London hydro they still have a healthy bottom line >$5.5 million in net income end $>28million in cash. This right here does not look like a company that needs to be increasing rates right now, the business is still profitable and the only thing increasing rates does is hurt the community members. Please do not approve this greed from Vinay Sharma.
