The request for the raise has not been fully thought out or define. What customers what to know is how and for what reason/s this request is being put forward. Unlike other businesses, London Electricity did not suffer any financial loss as a result of COVID, it infact benefitted from COVID financially as customers stayed at home and used or overused electricity without any specific cost-reductions. It is surprising that this request for increase to customers has been put forward. London Hydro charges a whopping $42 a month for delivery, which in most cases is more than the cost of electricity used. There is no justification for this request to increase customers fees and it is view that it should be rejected outright. This is a behaviour unbecoming. The request to increase is unjustifiable and not supported by any cogent reason
